

CSPS Young Scientist Network

Events for the CSPS 2019 Symposium

May 21-24th

Sheraton Vancouver Airport

This year the CSPS Young Scientist Network (YSN) has arranged a number of events through out the 2019 CSPS symposium for all trainees attending.

The CSPS-YSN has arranged a trainee-mentor breakfast on Wednesday May 22nd from 7:00-9:00am. We have invited amazing speakers who are experts in their fields, representing academia, business and government. This breakfast will provide a chance for trainees to ask questions and learn from the experts. Confirmed mentors attending the breakfast include; Dr. Ron Boch who is the Vice President of Biotechnology and Industry Affairs at BIOTECCanada and is on the CSPS board of directors, Dr. Noriko Daneshtalab who is Associate Professor at Memorial University and is also on the CSPS board of directors, Dr. Agnes Klein who is the Director of the Centre for Evaluation of Radiopharmaceuticals and Biotherapeutics at Health Canada, and Shawn Gliner who is founder and CEO of Pendant Bioscience Inc.

We have arranged a networking evening on Wednesday from 5-6:30pm. This will be an amazing opportunity for trainees to connect with their peers from across Canada and to discuss how we can grow and continue to improve the CSPS-YSN.

We have also organized a Lunch and Learn for trainees on Thursday May 23rd from 12:30-1:30pm. We have invited special guest Dr. Helen Burt, Professor of Drug Delivery in UBC Faculty of Pharmaceutical Sciences, to come to share lessons from her career journey and secrets for success with the CSPS-YSN trainees.
